

Curated Collection of Online Image Repositories Considering Diversity

These collections are offered as a starting point in an effort towards inclusive representation of diverse individuals and environments. Be mindful that the resource titles presented in this document are shared as they are presented on the linked sites. In addition, please see the licensing and guidelines as stated on each individual site at the time you visit to confirm permissions.

Free or Nearly-free Resources

This is a list of online collections that hold images that fall within the public domain, Creative Commons licensing, or other similar licenses that provide permissions to share as specified on each individual site.

AllGo Plus-Size Stock Photos – “free stock photos featuring plus-size people” where attribution is requested along with no derivatives under the terms of their license.

Centre for Ageing Better Age-Positive Image Library – collection of open sourced age-positive photos and icons. All images are published under CC0 1.0

Disability:IN Inclusive Stock Photography – small collection of individuals with physical disabilities in professional, business environments published under CC BY-ND 4.0 where credit is provided to Disability:IN per their terms in the “A Note on Stock Photography Usage” section.

The Gender Spectrum Collection – stock photo library of trans and non-binary models licensed under CC BY-NC-ND 4.0. Please refer to their very helpful guidelines!

Images of Empowerment – images celebrating women across the globe. all photos are published under CC BY-NC 4.0

Microsoft Premium Creative Content, i.e. Stock Images – rapidly expanding collection of stock imagery that can only be used within Microsoft Office or SharePoint applications. Per the terms of their licensing, you can modify the images as well as export the edited file containing the images (i.e. the entire PowerPoint or Word document) to a different file format such as a PDF.

Nappy.co – premium images celebrating people of color. All photos are licensed under CC0

Noun Project – large collection of icons and premium photos falling within CC BY-NC-ND 2.0

Pexels – large collection of free images and videos licensed for non-commercial use, allowing derivatives, and allowing no attribution under their terms

Queer in Tech – a small collection of photos to “promote the visibility of queer and gender-nonconforming (GNC) people in technology” licensed under CC BY 3.0 on Flickr.

Society Pix (Gesellschaftsbilder by Sozialhelden, i.e. Images of Society with a New Perspective)

– large collection of photos of individuals with impairments and disabilities. These images are free for non-commercial use with attribution under their own license.

Unsplash – large collection photos all published within the terms of “no cost, no permission for commercial and non-commercial use” under their own license

Women of Color in Tech (#WOCinTech) – collection of over 500 stock photos showing women of diverse representation in business environments, specifically the tech sector. These are licensed under CC BY with attribution given to #WOCinTechChat per their terms.